

We need your eyes and ears!

to alert us and introduce us to Union County's "local unsung heroes"

who are eligible to receive the prestigious 2023 Unity Achievement Award

presented annually by the Union County Human Relations Commission.

This award honors those ordinary individuals, organizations, and businesses that dedicate their time and effort and do extraordinary things on behalf of others to enhance their experiences and quality of life, and by doing so also raise and honor the human spirit, and have distinguished themselves in the broad realm of human dignity, human relations, and human rights.

About The Union County Human Relations Commission (UCHRC)

The UCHRC serves to promote a more peaceful and tolerant society throughout Union County, primarily by addressing the issues of prejudice, bias, and racism, and their impacts on our local schools, workplaces, and neighborhoods, and working to eradicate the conditions that cause them. Created by the Union County Prosecutor's Office over three decades ago, the UCHRC consists of a group of volunteer commissioners who live or work in Union County, hailing from a diverse collection of personal and professional backgrounds, in fields ranging from education to advocacy to law enforcement.
